GLASS JEWELRY

The Fenton Collection

From day one we have delighted in creating beautiful colors to brighten each day. Our glass artists love trying new designs and colors to give you that special piece that puts a gleam in your eye. They take great pride in the high quality and durability of each glass bead. From their hands to your heart...enjoy!

GEORGE W. FENTON

Fenton makes the finest glass colors in the world for our expressive creations. During our 111 years of glassmaking experience we have developed amazing glass colors and treatments that are now translated into sparkling, artistic jewels.

Young Frank L. Fenton started the company in 1905 and immediately began developing glass techniques that were beautifully unexpected. His vision led us from hand painted designs, iridescent carnival glass, and Vasa Murrhina infused with flecks of gold to hundreds of lustrous colors! We continue his vision today. Just look inside to see our array of rich reds and pinks that step beyond color normally found in glass beads, to our exciting combinations of blues, greens and purples.

Our Products

Handcrafted in Williamstown, West Virginia since 1905

In an age of mass production, Fenton remains committed to honoring the tradition of expressive, handmade creations. Each Made in America Fenton glass bead bears the signature of handcraftsmanship; those slight variations that convey distinction, character and charm. The handcrafted Fenton glass bead collection includes many of Fenton's unique glass colors and historic treatments. We are the only beadmaker creating hand decorated beads using high-fired ceramic glazes, giving our beads unmatched design flexibility and strong durability.

Bead Care

Treat your glass beads with care, as you would any fine jewelry. To clean the glass, simply wipe the bead with a damp cloth. To polish the silver core, gently rub the side of the bead back and forth on a polishing cloth. Do not expose beads to acidic materials, such as lemon juice or vinegar, or any household cleaners. Never immerse your beads in a liquid jewelry cleaner or clean glass beads in a jewelry tumbler.
